You are taking a brave step by actively seeking a solution

You are probably hesitant to seek help at this moment. However, persistent domestic violence will bring tremendous harm to the family. Enduring violent acts is never a solution to family problems but will only make the situation worse. If you face violence from your intimate partner, please don't stay silent. Seek professional help immediately. You can contact the police or social workers for assistance.

Seek help early for yourself and your partner, and take advantage of the opportunity to improve your relationships!

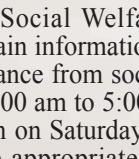

You are not alone

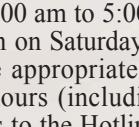

Not only women but also men may suffer from violence by their intimate partners, which involves physical violence, psychological abuse, and even sexual violence.

If you are a victim of spouse/cohabitant battering (regardless of age, gender, sexual orientation and ethnicity, etc.), or a family member of the victim of a spouse/cohabitant battering case, the following units can provide you and your family with various services:

Support Services

Victims of domestic violence may apply to the court for an injunction order to stop the abuser's violent/harassing behaviour or initiate divorce proceedings if desired. The Legal Aid Department provides legal representation for eligible applicants by a solicitor and, if necessary, a barrister in civil or criminal proceedings. Legal aid will be granted if the applicant is able to satisfy the statutory criteria as to their financial eligibility and the merits for taking or defending the legal proceedings.

All complaints and reports of domestic violence are handled and investigated by the Hong Kong Police Force. Under normal circumstances, the public can call any police station or report directly to any police officer. In emergency situations, the public may dial 999 to make a report.
